'Tooltide' Joy

Matthew Wilson

"It didn't take me long to realise that these tools are modern day classics".

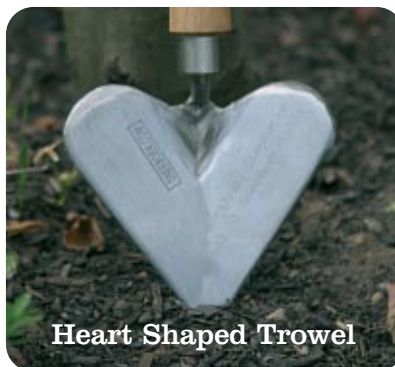

It's nearly Christmas and the only present left to buy is for the gardener in your family. What do you buy for the person who has everything? Harrod Horticultural's superior quality hand forged stainless steel tools exclusively from Sneeboer are the answer. They are a perfect addition to any garden shed and will be received as a welcome replacement for any cheaper, more flimsy tool alternatives. Made by Dutch craftsmen in a traditional forge since 1913, these tools are a real investment for long term high performance strength and perfect balance to suit all gardeners

Matthew Wilson, RHS Head of Gardens Creative Development, recently tested a number of Sneeboer tools for Harrod

Horticultural and says, "It didn't take me long to realise that these tools are modern day classics".

The Sneeboer Large Spade (£66.95) and Garden Fork (£63.95) are forged from stainless steel, making them supremely strong but also almost completely impervious to rust, and the ash handles are beautifully tactile, light yet robust – and after a few years of use develop a lovely smooth patina. "My instant reaction to both tools, having spent years bent over and straining with 'conventional' garden tools, was one of utter revelation – for the first time ever I could dig all day without risk of ending up at the osteopath. The simple reason for this is that Sneeboer make their tools with long handles", says Matthew.

For a smaller present, a Sneeboer Heart Shaped Trowel would also make an excellent Christmas present for a much loved gardener and Harrod Horticultural can engrave a message onto the trowel blade, up to 75 characters, to make your gift extra special (£30.45 including engraving). So treat your loved one to a piece from the Rolls Royce range of gardening tools this Christmas to begin the ultimate gardening collection.
